“Seeing the progression of students from freshmen to seniors is very rewarding. Knowing that I played a role in that development is exciting and makes for a very fulfilling career.”
- Matt Eddy, Iowa

“As much as teaching ag makes me crazy and can be tough, I can’t imagine doing anything else or anything as meaningful. I became an ag teacher by chance. I am staying an ag teacher by choice.”
- Tiffany Morey, New Jersey

“I was inspired to teach ag after learning about how much agriculture really effects our lives each and every day. Not everyone understands just how important our industry is.”
- Jessie Lumpkins, Tennessee

“Nothing can compare to the people I’ve worked with and the students I’ve had. It’s been work, but as wise men say, it’s work worth doing.”
- Wes Crawford, Oregon
