Questions to Guide Discussion:

1. What are we doing on a national level to address work/life balance issues in agricultural education?
2. What components of the national programs can be replicated effectively on the state level?

National Programs Addressing Work/Life Balance Issues

- Teachers Turn the Key Professional Development Program
  – For teachers in their 2nd-4th years of teaching agriculture
National Programs Addressing Work/Life Balance Issues

• XLR8 – Experienced Teacher Professional Development Program
  – For teachers in their 7th-15th year of teaching agriculture

National Programs Addressing Work/Life Balance Issues

• NAAE Convention Professional Development Workshops
  – Available to teachers attending NAAE Convention

Components of our national programs:

• Work/Life Balance
• Time Management
• Effective Delegation
• Stress Management
Work/Life Balance Component:

- Focus: Develop a healthy balance between professional/work, relationships, and self.
- Use the Juggling Elephants book by Jones Loflin and Todd Musig to guide participants through understanding how to “juggle” their three rings.

STATE LEVEL REPLICATION

- Engage current or former XLR8 participants to present workshop
- Provide 2-3 hour workshop related to work/life balance
- Provide participants Juggling Elephants book as resource
- Use workshop handouts and outline created by National Teach Ag Campaign and companion worksheets from Jones Loflin to facilitate workshop

Time Management Component:

- Focus: Develop time management skills and practices that allow for more quality time to balance work, relationships, and self.
- Use the Eat That Frog book by Brian Tracy to introduce/remind participants about how to get more done in less time.
- Provide proven strategies related to time management
Time Management Component

STATE LEVEL REPLICATION

- Engage current or former XLR8 participants to present workshop
- Applicable to all levels of teachers – good concept to even include in new teacher/beginning teacher workshops
- Provide 60-90 minute workshop related to time management
- Provide participants Eat That Frog book as resource
- Use workshop handouts and outline created by ag teachers and NAAE to facilitate workshop
- Great book for a state level book club

Stress Management Component: **

STATE LEVEL REPLICATION

- Focus: Develop stress management techniques to allow for more enjoyment in teaching and relationships/life.
- Provide 60-90 minute workshops related to stress management
- Provide stress relief outlets for teachers during conferences
- Applicable to all levels of teachers – good concept to include in new teacher/beginning teacher workshops
- Use workshop handouts and outline created by ag teachers and NAAE to facilitate workshop – still in the development phase
Delegation Component:

- Focus: Develop successful habits that create positive outcomes when delegating tasks.
- Use the The One Minute Manager Meets the Monkey book by Ken Blanchard, Wil Oncken, and Hal Burrows to introduce delegation techniques.
- Provide and relate these proven strategies related to the demands of agricultural educators.

STATE LEVEL REPLICATION

- Provide 60 minute workshop related to delegation techniques
- Applicable to all levels of teachers – good concept to include in new teacher/beginning teacher workshops
- Use workshop handouts and outline created by NAAE to facilitate workshop – still in the development phase

Pennsylvania XLR8 Program - Summer 2015

- Using a past NAAE XLR8 participant as the program coordinator/contact
- Providing 8 hours pd onsite during state conference this summer
- Using application process to determine participants
- Secured funding for assistance for travel cost & program expenses
- Providing webinars during the 2015-16 school year for participants
- Creating a private group on NAAE Communities of Practice to continue to connect
Creating a Culture Within Your State

• Modeling to your teachers good principles of work/life balance
• Including components when designing meetings
• Seek teachers that are doing a good job with their work/life balance

Thank You!
